2.3 Single Color

In print applications, the single colour version of the logo should be used only in black or in white with a dark coloured background and no other colour. The typical applications where a single colour logo would be used are b/w laser prints, forms, fax sheets etc. The logo can also be applied on materials like glass, wood, metal, plastics etc. by processes like embossing or etching, in which case it would take on the colour of the material.
